LEMUEL DEXTER DIES AT MATTAPOISETT HOME

Town flags flew at halfmast last week in memory of Mr. Lemuel LeBaron Dexter. Mr. Dexter served the town up to the time of his passing. He was 84 and died on Tuesday, August 27th, at his home on North Street, Mattapoisett.

Mr. Dexter was a co-author of "Mattapoisett and Old Rochester", the book of town history. He served on the committee which headed the 75th anniversary of the town 25 years ago and viewed the Centennial parade this year as it passed his home on North Street where he has lived all of his life.

Mr. Dexter was an honor graduate of Harvard College and of Harvard Law School. He practiced law in New Bedford. He served for 60 years as clerk of the Mattapoisett Congregational Precinct. His 30 years of service as town moderator is well remembered. This year he was elected to his 23rd consecutive 3-year term as a trustee of the Mattapoissett Free Public Library. He served 63 years. He was moderator for the Old Colony Association of Congregational Churches on 5 occasions.

Mr. Dexter was the son of the late Elisha Loring Dexter and of Harriet W. LeBaron. The Dexter name has long been a familiar name in Mattapoissett. The Dexter Elm on Route 6 bears the name and stands at the site where the Dexter mill was located years ago.

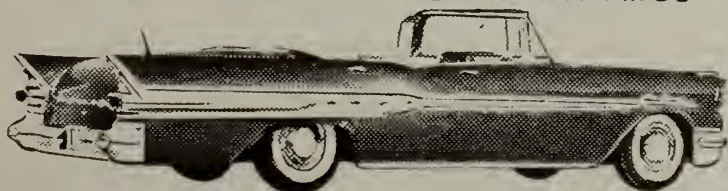

In February Vol 4 No. 9 this year our cover pictures were loaned to us by Mr. Dexter. They were taken by him and were pictures of the pageant of the 75th celebration. At that time Mr. Dexter was looking forward to the Centennial with the keen interest that he always had for town affairs. No other man now living had the extensive knowledge of "town history" and no one served the town better.

His widow, the former Clara Lucinda Hammond, survives. They were married on July 26, 1899.

MATTAPoisETT RESIDENT TAKES SUMMER THEATRE PART IN "THE TEAHOUSE OF THE AUGUST MOON"

The Highfield Theatre of Falmouth, Mass. presented the play, "The Teahouse of the August Moon" the week of August 23 through Saturday, August 31. The very enjoyable entertainment delighted the audience which filled the theatre throughout the week. Mrs. Takayo Doran of Cannon Street, Mattapoisett played the part of Lotus Blossom, one of the principal parts in the comedy. Many Mattapoisett residents were noticed in the audience enjoying the performance.

The scene of the action was Okinawa after the occupation by United States military government. The principal character is Sakini, played by John Cunningham, who acts as interpreter for the local military government as narrator throughout the play to string the spritely action together. Mr. Cunningham played the difficult part well. Those who remember the movie will recall that Marlon Brando played this part. The play follows the career of a Captain Fisby who is transferred to the island after a long series of misadventures in which he singlehandedly delayed the victory for 2 years according to his own estimate. Having failed in every branch of the service and with spectacular results such as the time when he was involved in overpaying navy men by 3/4 million dollars, he is now transferred to the remote village of Tobiki to teach democracy and put the town on its feet financially. He organizes a ladies league for Democratic action according to orders but after a failure to create a thriving market for cricket cages among the navy and army personel he hits upon a local sweet potato brandy which sells by the hundred gallon lots. This creates a thriving business in stills and a wealthy Tobiki. He is given a beautiful Geisha girl, played by Mrs. Doran, who makes his life so uncomplicated and comfortable that the Captain discards his uniform and goes native by running around in a makeshift kimono. Lotus Blossom, the geisha girl, charms the captain and the town into building a Teahouse using material earmarked by the government for a pentagon shaped schoolhouse. When the high brass arrives to view the results the play reaches a climax of fun and spoofing of the military red tape.

After the abundance of mediocre TV plays it is refreshing to see a really good comedy played well on the live stage. Our summer theatres and music tents fill a real need as they provide evening entertainment of the best in Broadway shows using young, local talent. It's a proving ground for new actors and real pleasure for us in the audience.

SALVATION ARMY HOLDS MAIL CAMPAIGN HERE

Appeal letters are being mailed to families and individuals residing in Mattapoisett to raise the money which the Salvation Army needs to support its vast service-to-man program, it was announced today by General Chairman, Lester A. Crampton, of Pine Island Road, Mattapoisett.

Mr. Crampton is chairman of the Board of Selectmen here.

The Service Unit Committee, made up of local residents, disburses twenty percent of the funds raised here for "on the Spot" relief. This aid may be in the form of clothing and medical care for youngsters, eyeglasses for the aged, or food baskets for needy families.

The members of this committee are: Mr. Crampton; William H. Winslow, Barstow Street, treasurer; Joseph H. Magilton, 32 Pearl Street and Mrs. Grace DeCosta, Park Street.

The rest of the money maintains and expands one of this area's largest social welfare programs which supports such regional agencies as day nurseries and summer camps, clubs for servicemen and family counseling bureaus.

Residents here sponsoring this annual drive includes: Alden S. Kinney, Chief of Police; George C. Bradley, Chief of Fire Department; Clifford I. Tripp, Superintendent of Water Department; Dr. Charles E. Hutchings of Oakland Street and Mrs. Ira Hiller of Water Street.

"Nobody needs to explain the good works of the Salvation Army--they are too well known," said Chairman Crampton.

"What we need to do is give this Army of Mercy the money it needs to continue its humane work. We count on them 12 months a year; let's show them they can count on us during this fund-drive," Mr. Crampton concluded.

MATTAPOISETT MENTIONED IN MONTREAL PAPER

We received a clipping this week from the La Presse of Montreal, Canada, which was very kindly sent to us from Mrs. W. A. Hebert of Harbor Beach, Mattapoisett. She writes: "Mr. and Mrs. Ferland visited us in Mattapoisett last year and, like me who came from Montreal, fell in love with the place." So when they found news of Mattapoisett in their home paper which is the main French paper in Canada they sent it to Mrs. Hebert.

The clipping is written in French and without a translation we can't read it word for word. It is about the recent mishap of Mr. Frederick Brownell's sport fisherman which was recently attacked and stove by a swordfish. They describe the action as a strange adventure as it surely was. The Shan-lin was pierced by the sword and began taking water. They describe the arrival of Frank Pimental's Jeanne Claire which made fast a tow line and brought the Brownell boat into Mattapoisett Harbor.

Unusual news gets around and we thank Mrs. Hebert. It will interest the principals in the strange case of the swordfish that stabbed the boat to know that it attracted interest as far away as Canada.

March 25th. Wednesday the first part of the day the wind is unsteady and variable on the Northern board, the latter part calm and light airs from the West. We repair old sails, bend an old foresail for a mainsail and an old maintopgallant sails. We put our yams in the run.

March 26th. Thursday begins with strong gales from W by N. The gale increases with heavy squalls. We take in sail, and at 3 in the morning heave the ship to under a close reefed maintopsail and foresail. At 7 A.M. furl the foresail. The King of the tempest has sent forth one of his grimest messengers to greet us to his northern domain. He drives furiously Old Oceans white maned Coursers and our gallant ship is bowed low to do him reverence.

March 27th. Friday the gale continues with unabated violence through this day.

March 28th. Saturday the gale continues. The wind is W N W. The Ocean is now raging with fury and literally our march is on the mountain wave, our home the angry sea. Our noble ship behaves finely, but at times I look with fear and trembling on our close reefed main topsail.

March 29th, Sunday. This morning at 8 our main topsail split. We unbend fore and main topsails and bend others in their places. We make sail with double reefed topsails and a strong gale and heavy sea from N N W. We set up some of our rigging.

March 30th. Monday the wind is strong from N N W. We tack ship twice today. We set up the fore rigging and prepare the stove for fire as the weather is getting very cold.

CUB SCOUT COMMITTEE HAS MEETING TO PLAN NEW PROGRAM

Cub Scout committee members of Mattapoissett met recently at the home of the chairman, Mr. Charles W. Smith, of Fairhaven Road.

A more extensive program for the year is planned, and an additional sum of money will be donated this year by the sponsors, the Mattapoissett Improvement Association, to help in this new program. More formal ceremonies for merit badge awards will be part of the new program.

A drive for new members is being held, and with this increased membership more den mothers will be needed for whom there will be a training program set up for the first time. Den fathers will also be asked this year to aid at pack meetings.

A Webelos Den is to be organized this year which will make 10 packs in all.

Members of the committee are: Mr. Smith, chairman; Herbert Arral, secretary and publicity chairman; William Matthews, treasurer; George Silsby, chairman of programs and activities; Fred Bieringer, Cub Scout leader and Harold Banks, assistant leader and chairman of advancement. Committee meetings will be

OPEN AIR SQUARE DANCING ENDING SATURDAY

The square dancing which has been so enjoyable this summer as in other season will close this Saturday, September 7th, with Charlie Lincoln, caller, of Taunton, Mass. This should be a real attraction as square dancers will want to have one more good night's fun under the stars before going inside for the winter. Charlie Lincoln always draws a large crowd both from among the local dancers and from his own locality. Here are some photos taken last Saturday night at the dance called by Earle Johnson of Rockville, Conn. The wharf square dancing area still wears the festive look with the Centennial flags and the welcome to Mattapoissett signs still flying.
